The Smelters Still Out-Job Printers Ditto-Brick-Layers Strike.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

Omana, Nen., August 3, —There has been no fresh trouble at the Omaha and Grant smeiter so far to-day. The police guarded the works all night, but there was no attempt at violence. When the hour for the day shift to go on duty arrived about 409 men gathered at the entrance, but nobody went to work except half a dozen men who put in the morning emptying the silver furnaces. As soon as this was completed the smelters were closed and not a man of the 650 employe's was at work.

The job printers are still out, with no prospects of a compromise. A number of manufacturers have clubbed together and will test the eight-hour laws in the courts.

At noon a number of brick-layers went out for eight hours. [By telegraph to the Dispatch.]
